

Speech and Drama Lessons 2018

Course Description and Aims

- To develop mind, voice and body skills needed in order to communicate confidently with clarity, sincerity and interest, in any situation.
- To understand the process of voice production and through practice to acquire the skills essential to produce a natural voice with pleasant quality and tone.
- To appreciate, interpret and present poetry and prose.
- To learn the drama skills necessary for creditable performance.

The content of this course is varied and designed to be stimulating, challenging and fun. The course may be adapted to suit the particular needs of the students.

As with any subject or skill, advancement and progress is very much influenced by the attitude of and practice by the student.

A full Speech and Drama course will include the following:

- Voice Production – Exercises to develop skills in relaxation, breathing, production of voice, resonance, articulation, projection, and modulation.
- Conversational Skills – Including telephone techniques, introducing, thanking guest speakers etc.
- Speech Making – Formal and informal.
- Poetry – Interpretation, speaking, and memorising.
- Drama – Mime, improvisation, role-playing, creative drama and working with scripts.
- Reading Aloud – Prepared and at sight.

Our lesson plans are based on the requirements of the Trinity Guildhall and Speech New Zealand syllabus and students may choose to work towards examinations in either.

Lessons are available for all year levels at St Margaret's College and are taken during school hours by well-qualified and experienced tutors.

Girls in Years 11-13 will have priority over lesson times and may have a set time each week. Where possible, all other lessons will be timetabled to avoid disruptions or girls missing the same period each week. It is the responsibility of the girls to catch up on schoolwork when out of class.
